

The code requirement for general & above should be removed.
A more comprehensive set of questions for general & above would serve the community better.